

Part Of A Larger Plan

THERE IS A SINGULAR UNITY IN ALL THE WORK OF THE PRESBYTERIAN CHURCH

In fact the whole work of the whole Church may be expressed thus: To lead men everywhere to Christ and to build them up in Him.

THE CHURCH HAS BEEN DIVIDED INTO A NUMBER OF DEPARTMENTS

for the sake of convenience. The Department of Home Missions has to do with the great work of evangelization and development of the home fields, with all its perplexing problems. The Department of Foreign Missions has the oversight of the great work of evangelizing the peoples in heathen lands and establishing the Church in all its departments there.

THE DEPARTMENT OF CHRISTIAN EDUCATION

has to do with the task of providing qualified Christian workers whom the other departments must use in advancing the Kingdom both at home and abroad, and of providing Christian leaders for the nation.

OUR CHRISTIAN COLLEGES TRAIN MEN AND WOMEN

who are sent to them looking forward to Christian work. They have such a tone, atmosphere, spirit prevailing in class room and on the campus that large numbers of these unconsciously are led to dedicate their lives to the same work.

OUR PRESBYTERIAN COLLEGES ARE NOT ERECTED

and then foisted off on the Church for her support. They are part of the larger plan. They are necessary for the proper conduct of all the Church's work. "They are essential not only to the well-being of the Church," says Dr. Walter W. Moore, "but to the very existence of the Church."

A GREAT PURPOSE HAS ALWAYS BEEN BEFORE THE CHURCH IN FOUNDING HER COLLEGES.

Harvard, the first American College, was founded "For Christ and the Church."

William and Mary, the second American College, was established "that youth may be properly educated and that the Christian faith may be propagated among the Western Indians."

Oberlin's first catalogue says: "Its grand object is the diffusion of useful science, sound morality, and pure religion among the growing multitudes of the Mississippi Valley."

THE RECORD OF THE PRESBYTERIAN CHURCH IN EDUCATION

has been long and honorable. She has always held that religion is an essential part of education, and that education is necessary to the adequate achievement of the aims of the Christian religion.

YOU ARE PROUD OF YOUR CHURCH AND THIS RECORD.

Have you done anything recently to sustain or improve the record? Presbyterian Colleges have a right to expect the hearty and generous support of Presbyterians. Never before have these beloved and needed institutions faced such serious needs.

IN SOLVING THE MISSIONARY PROBLEM,

the most important single factor is the missionary himself.

Dr. J. Campbell White says: "Many men now in the field feel that they have not had the proper preparation for their work. The same is true of many of the pastors and other leaders at home. The place to remedy these weaknesses is in the colleges.

HAVE YOU DONE YOUR SHARE IN HELPING MEET THESE NEEDS?

When you fully understand the purpose of the Church, and know the incalculable value of the produce of the Christian college, and its vital relation to the progress of the Church and the stability of the nation—we believe you will face this question prayerfully, candidly, courageously.
